In service to Kansans, the Docking Institute of Public Affairs conducts the Kansas Speaks survey and offers this report of the survey's findings. The Institute is the primary sponsor of this survey, funding it with operating reserves made possible by the Institute's applied research and organizational planning consulting work. This year the Wichita Journalism Collaborative joined the Institute by providing co-sponsorship.

Executive Summary

    The 2024 Kansas Speaks fall survey was conducted from September 26 to October 16, 2024. A panel of 645 adult residents of Kansas age 18 and older were surveyed online to assess their attitudes and opinions regarding various issues of interest to Kansas citizens. The statewide online panel survey finds:

Section 1: Overall Quality of Life in Kansas

- 46.2% of respondents indicated Kansas is a "very good" or "excellent" place to live, and 5.8% said Kansas is a "poor" or "very poor" place to live. The rating in 2024 was more positive than 2023.
- Asked where they will be in 5 years, 58.4% of respondents said they would be living in the same community that they live in now, 15.2% said they would be moving to another location in Kansas, and 15.2% said they would relocate to a state other than Kansas. The percentage of respondents who intended to move out of Kansas in 2024 is lower than the past two years.

Section 2: Economy

- 21.1% of respondents felt the state economy is "very good" or "excellent" this year, higher than the past two years. 14.5% felt the economy is "poor" or "very poor," lower than 2023 but slightly higher than 2022.
- 13.3% of respondents felt that the Kansas economy was getting better in the last 12 months, lower than the previous two years. 42.9% felt that it stayed the same. 37.6% felt it was getting worse, down from 43.7% in 2022.
- 17.4% of respondents are "very concerned" about the future economy threatening their own or their family's welfare, and 25.1% are "moderately concerned," not very different from the past two years.
- 40.8% of respondents felt Kansas is on the "right track," and 33.9% felt Kansas is on the "wrong track" this year; the rating was less positive than the previous two years.
- 51.2% of respondents felt that inflation had affected their family "a great deal," and 55.9% felt that inflation had affected other Kansans "a great deal."

Section 3: Government, Politicians & Election

- 46.4% of respondents were satisfied with the performance of Governor Laura Kelly, and 27.1% were dissatisfied.
- 28.5% of respondents were satisfied with President Biden, and 59% were dissatisfied.
- 26.8% of respondents were satisfied with the Kansas Supreme Court, and 20.6% were dissatisfied.

- 29.1% of respondents were satisfied with the Kansas legislature, and 30.3% were dissatisfied.
- 15.9% of respondents were satisfied with the U.S. Congress, and 55% were dissatisfied.
- 36% of respondents voted for Laura Kelly for governor in the 2022 election, and 26.7% did not vote for her.
- 37.4% of respondents voted for Donald Trump in the 2020 presidential election, and 30.4% voted for Joe Biden.
- Among all respondents, 46.3% would vote for Donald Trump and 36.5% would vote for Kamala Harris if the 2024 presidential election were held when they took the survey. After excluding those who indicated they did not plan to vote or cannot vote, 49.9% would vote for Donald Trump and 39.4% would vote for Kamala Harris. Among the registered voters who planned to vote, 48.2% would vote for Donald Trump, and 43.2% would vote for Kamala Harris.
- 60.5% of respondents were confident that the reported winners of the elections in Kansas are actually the candidates that most Kansans voted for. 10.4% were not confident, 18.7% were neutral, and 10.4% said "don't know."
- 52.3% of respondents felt fraud was generally not a problem in Kansas elections. 12.4% felt fraud was a problem in Kansas elections.
- 38.4% of respondents felt fraud was generally not a problem across the U.S., whereas 40.1% felt fraud was a problem across the U.S.
- 23.5% of respondents agreed that ballot drop boxes should be banned in Kansas. 43.5% disagreed.
- 23% of respondents agreed that vote by mail should be abolished. 47.3% disagreed.
- 15.5% of respondents agreed that early voting should be abolished in Kansas. 53.4% disagreed.
- 15.3% of respondents agreed that illegal immigrants were voting in Kansas elections in large numbers. 37.2% disagreed, and 47.5% were neutral or said "don't know."
- 13.1% of respondents agreed that state and local elections officials in Kansas committed election fraud to alter election outcomes. 46.8% disagreed.
- 11.6% of respondents felt that voter fraud routinely decided the winners of elections in Kansas. 52.1% did not feel so.
- 57.4% of respondents agreed that Kansas government becomes stronger with diverse representation among elected officials. 6.3% disagreed.

Section 4: Public Policy Issues

- In terms of amount of thought given to the issue, 29.3% of respondents thought "a great deal" or "a lot" of Medicaid expansion as a current political issue with the Kansas legislature.

- 75.9% of respondents agreed that expanding Medicaid would help rural Kansas hospitals remain in business. 4.5% disagreed.
- 67.4% of respondents agreed that the Kansans who might obtain health insurance from expanding Medicaid deserve this benefit from the state. 6.3% disagreed.
- 72.4% of respondents supported expanding Medicaid in Kansas. 8.7% disagreed.
- As they decide who got their vote to represent them in the Kansas Legislature, 50.9% of respondents felt the issue of Medicaid expansion in Kansas is highly or extremely important, 34.1% slightly important, and 7.8% not important at all important.
- 57.3% of respondents supported increasing taxes on cigarettes and cigars to allow state taxation (28.1% oppose). 49.7% supported increasing taxes on alcohol (27.1% oppose).
- 65.2% of respondents supported legalizing recreational marijuana for individuals 21 and older to allow state taxation; 18.7% opposed.
- 60% of respondents were "highly" or "somewhat likely" to vote for a candidate who supported medical marijuana legalization as they decided who to vote to represent them in the Kansas Legislature; 13.1% were unlikely.
- 72.9% of respondents "strongly" or "somewhat support" legalization of medical marijuana in general; 12% opposed.
- 61.3% of respondents "strongly" or "somewhat support" legalization of recreational marijuana in general; 22.3% opposed.
- 4.6% of respondents knew about the tax cut bill passed during the last legislative session in Kansas, 35.2% knew a little about it, and 60.2% knew nothing or almost nothing about it.
- 65.4% of respondents agreed that women are in a better position than politicians to make their own choices about whether to get an abortion; 16% disagreed.
- 54.9% of respondents agreed that "the Kansas government should not place any regulations on the circumstances under which women can get abortions," while 29.3% disagreed.
- 61.3% of respondents disagreed that "if the Kansas government were to ban all or most abortions, it should also make it illegal for Kansas women to travel outside of the state to get abortions in other states where abortion is still legal." 20% agreed.
- 69.6% of respondents were not willing to contact authorities to report a woman who had an illegal abortion or to report her medical providers, if the Kansas government were to ban all or most abortions.
- 37.4% of respondents thought the state government should pay most of the cost of prosecuting women who get illegal abortions or their medical providers, if the Kansas government were to ban all or most abortions; 9.4% thought the local government should pay.
- 50.4% of respondents somewhat or strongly opposed the new laws that restrict access to abortion passed by the Kansas Legislature. 24.8% supported those new laws.

- 33.1% of respondents thought "a great deal" or "a lot" about the Kansas Legislature continuing to pass laws restricting abortion access, 27.6% thought "a moderate amount," and 39.3% thought "a little" or "not at all."
- About sixty percent of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that legal immigrants contributed to the economic growth of the U.S. (61.5%), the economic vitality of Kansas (60.8%), and the economic vitality of their community (59%). About 15% disagreed.
- 55.1% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that legal immigrants contributed to government revenue by paying taxes. 18.7% disagreed.
- 53.8% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that legal immigrants enriched American culture and values. 18% disagreed.
- 49% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that legal immigrants took jobs that Americans don't want. 20.7% disagreed.
- 29% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that legal immigrants took jobs away from American citizens. 44.5% disagreed.
- 45.7% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that there were too many immigrants coming into the U.S. 24.9% disagreed.
- 42.9% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that the U.S. should accept more high-skilled immigrants. 14.2% disagreed.
- Respondents' opinions were polarized when they were asked whether legal immigrants took social services away from American citizens (35.8% agreed vs. 37.1% disagreed) and whether the U.S. should accept more low-skilled immigrants (23.1% agreed vs. 27.3% disagreed).
- 31.3% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that illegal immigrants should be left alone by authorities if they don't break other laws. 47.9% disagreed.
- 27.4% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that illegal immigrants contributed more to society than they take in terms of resources. 45% disagreed.
- 36.1% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that illegal immigrants should be arrested and put in detention camps while awaiting deportation hearings. 41.1% disagreed.
- 45.6% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that illegal immigrants were a danger to public safety. 31.9% disagreed.
- 28.3% of respondents were "very concerned" about the foreign ownership of farmland in Kansas, and 22% were "moderately concerned." 49.7% were "slightly concerned" or "not concerned at all."
- Protection, hunting, and Second Amendment right/Constitutional right were the top three reasons for owning a gun or rifle. When asked to select one single most important reason for owning a gun or rifle, protection was selected the most, followed by Second Amendment and hunting.

- 55.9% of respondents strongly or somewhat disagreed that adults should be allowed to carry concealed handguns without a license or permit. 31.2% agreed.
- 58.8% strongly or somewhat disagreed that adults should be allowed to carry handguns openly without a license or permit. 30.1% agreed.
- 58.8% of respondents strongly or somewhat disagreed that adults should be allowed to carry concealed handguns on college campuses. 21.7% agreed.
- Close to or more than 70% of respondents favored the following policies around gun ownership, while no more than 13% opposed them:
    - Preventing sales of all firearms to people who have been reported as dangerous to law enforcement by a mental health provider (83.1%)
    - Requiring a person to be 21 or older to purchase a gun (77.7%)
    - Preventing sales of all firearms to people who have been convicted of violent misdemeanors (77.2%)
    - Making private gun sales and sales at gun shows subject to background checks (74.8%)
    - Allowing family members to ask the court to temporarily remove guns from a relative who they believe is at risk of harming themselves or others (69.2%)
    - Mandatory three-day waiting period after a gun is purchased before it can be taken home (69%)
- Close to or more than half of respondents favored the following policies around gun ownership:
    - Authorizing law enforcement officers to temporarily remove guns from individuals who the officer determines pose an immediate threat of harm to self or others (62.9% favored vs. 12.2% opposed)
    - Banning assault-style weapons (54.5% favored vs. 25.8% opposed)
    - Banning high-capacity ammunition clips that hold more than 10 bullets (54.3% favored vs. 23.3% opposed)
    - Having teachers or other school officials with appropriate training carry guns at school (47.8% favored vs. 27.2% opposed)
- 49.4% of respondents felt that government and society could take action that will be effective in preventing mass shootings from happening again. 38.2% felt that mass shootings will happen again regardless of what action is taken by government and society.
- 43.6% of respondents indicated they or someone else in their household owned a gun.
- 39.7% of respondents indicated that they did not use any artificial intelligence (A.I.) technologies.
- 12.5% of respondent used LLM (large language model) based A.I. and 20.6% used some other type of A.I. in their daily personal lives.
- 7.3% respondents used LLM based A.I. and 12.3% used some other type of A.I at work.

- About 55% agreed or strongly agreed that education beyond high school is a good return on investment both for the student and for the general population, while less than 20% disagree on both.
- 47.8% of respondents felt creating an educated citizenry is much or slightly more important as the main goal of higher education. 32.9% felt developing a workforce is much or slightly more important as the main goal.

Section 5: Housing

- 30.6% of the respondents lived in a place owned by them or someone in the household that has a home mortgage or loan, while 22.2% had no mortgage or loan. 41.4% of respondents were renting, and 5.7% were living with someone without paying rent.
- Among those paying a mortgage or loan and renting, 18.8% paid $500 or less per month, 41.2% paid $501-$1,000, and 40% paid more than $1,000.
- 11.4% of respondents said annual property taxes were a "large threat" to their staying in their home. 20.2% said "moderate threat," 23.2% "small threat," and 34.3% said "not at all a threat."
- 41.8% of respondents said they did not have any savings to cover all their monthly expenses including housing. 32.8% had enough for one to three months, 6% had enough for four to five months, and 19.4% had enough for six months or more.
- 48.3% of respondents agreed or strongly agreed that they spend the right amount of their income on housing costs. 29.6% disagreed or strongly disagreed.
- 64.5% of respondents felt that they would have difficulty affording to buy a home in their community.
- 62% respondents felt comfortable living in a neighborhood having rental properties.
- When asked if they felt insecure about their housing situation, 32.5% of respondents felt insecure about their housing situation. 48.1% felt secure.
- 67.9% of respondents were concerned about the cost of housing in their communities.
- 37% of respondents believed there was sufficient available housing in their communities. 36.9% believed there was not.
- Almost sixty percent of respondents felt that lack of affordable houses (both for purchase and also for rent) were having negative impacts on their community.
- 20.1% of respondents agreed that their community was adequately addressing housing issues. 36.9% disagreed.
- 48.2% of respondents felt that local governments should ease up on zoning to allow for more small, multi-family dwellings in neighborhoods. 13.9% did not feel so.
- 26.3% of respondents said "downtown" was the best place to locate a shelter to serve people who were homeless in their community. 10.5% said "neighborhood," 6.8% said "business district," and 7.4% said "other location."

- 19.6% of respondents were comfortable with having a shelter within two blocks of their home on the same street, 12.9% were comfortable with "less than a half mile but more than 2 blocks away," and 14% were comfortable with "less than 1 mile but at least a half mile away." 25.6% said "1 to 2 miles away," and 27.9% were not at all comfortable with a shelter near their home.
- Respondents were asked what levels of government should be responsible for funding services for people who are homeless. The state government was selected by 69.5% of respondents. The federal government was selected by 64.3% and local government was selected by 54.3% of respondents.
- 18.9% of respondents agreed that people who are homeless need housing before mental health services, addiction treatment and/or medical care. 62.1% disagreed.
- 52.4% of respondents agreed that people who are homeless have the right to refuse mental health services, addiction treatment and/or medical care. 30.3% disagreed.
- 48.9% of respondents felt homeless encampments should be allowed to continue on public land until another solution is found. 27.6% felt they should be cleaned up by law enforcement immediately. 5.2% support the encampments to continue indefinitely on public land.
- When asked who was best positioned to deal with the challenge of homelessness, 38.5% of respondents answered "government," 23.6% answered "nonprofit sector," and 11% answered "church."
- 31.5% of respondents said "lack of affordable housing" was the most root cause of homelessness. 22.4% said "mental health issues." 21.5% said "addictions."
- 57.7% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that more government spending was needed in their community on services for the homeless. 14.5% disagreed.
- 22.2% of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that homelessness was handled well in their community. 38.4% disagreed.

Section 6: Childcare and Long-term Care

- 85.7% of respondents believed that high-quality, affordable infant and toddler childcare was extremely or highly important for families in Kansas, regardless of whether or not they had young children. 10.7% felt it was "slightly important" or "not important at all."
- 79.1% of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that access to affordable childcare strengthened the economy. 3.4% disagreed.
- About two thirds of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that affordable and accessible childcare was an obstacle to women's economic participation (68.3%) and an obstacle to women's progress (65.6%).
- 27.8% of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that mothers should stay at home to provide infant and toddler childcare. 38.2% strongly or somewhat disagreed.

- 13.8% of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that grandparents should stay at home to provide infant and toddler childcare. 49.5% strongly or somewhat disagreed.
- Regarding which levels of government should pass laws to expand access to affordable childcare, 71.2% strongly or somewhat agreed that the federal government should; the percentages of strongly or somewhat agree was 74.8% for the state government and 67.7% for local governments.
- More than seventy percent of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that state policymakers had an important role in ensuring that elderly Kansans were taken care of (77.5%), that larger investments are needed in services and care for elderly Kansans (72.2%), and that Kansas should invest more in developing workers for long-term care services (77%).
- 84.3% of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that Kansans who required long-term care services should be able to get the care needed in their own community.
- 83.7% of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that supporting mental health needs of aging Kansans was important.
- 36.3% of respondents knew someone currently requiring long-term care and support.
- 29.1% of respondents had close family members currently requiring long-term care and support; among them 63.8% helped provide care for those family members.
- 30.5% of respondents felt state regulation of nursing home care in Kansas was "a little bit too little" or "much too little." 24.2% felt it was "about right." 11.9% felt it was "a little bit too much" or "far too much."
- 33% of respondents felt the level of support offered by the State of Kansas for people to remain in their homes as they grow older was "far too little." 18.7% felt it was "a little bit too little," and 16.1% felt it was "about right."

Section 7: Water Conservation

- 33.4% of respondents felt that their local government was doing "not enough" for water conservation in their part of Kansas. 39.6% felt it was doing "the right amount," and 2.4% felt it was doing "too much."
- 36.8% of respondents felt the state government was doing "not enough" for water conservation in their part of Kansas. 33.8% felt the efforts from the state were "the right amount," and 3.2% felt they were "too much."
- 33.6% of respondents felt that voluntary action by individual and businesses is sufficient for improving conservation of water, while 35.7% felt that local government should pass new laws. When asked if the state government should pass new laws, 33.5% said that voluntary action was sufficient and 34.1% said that the state government should pass new laws. About 30% of respondents had no opinion for both questions.

- 49.6% of respondents were "very" or "moderately concerned" that Kansas might be running out of water; 27.7% were "slightly concerned," and 12.8% were "not concerned at all."
- In 2024, 52.6% of respondents strongly agreed or agreed that Kansas farmers would need to make changes to their farming practices due to declining water levels; 6.8% disagreed or strongly disagreed. This is compared to 2023 when 62.1% of respondents agreed that Kansas farmers would need to make changes to their farming practices due to declining water levels; 4.4% disagreed.

Introduction and Methods

To assess attitudes and opinions of Kansans about public affairs matters, the Docking Institute of Public Affairs (Institute) has surveyed representative samples of Kansas residents age 18 and older every year since 2009. In 2020, the Institute switched from using random digit dial telephone surveying to an online survey panel. For the 2024 survey, the Institute developed the survey questionnaire (Appendix B) and contracted with QualtricsXM for data collection. QualtricsXM and its panel provider partners build and maintain panels on an ongoing basis that mirror the demographic characteristics of populations. Moreover, when conducting a statewide survey of Kansans, the Institute has QualtricsXM pursue quotas by gender, age, and nonmetro/metro counties in order to further promote a representative set of Kansas adults. QualtricsXM distributed the online questionnaire to the panel from September 26 to October 16, and 645 respondents answered all or nearly all of the survey questions.

Appendix A provides comparison of the Kansas population and the final panel respondents on a list of demographic characteristics, including the three quotas used during data collection (gender, age, and county population). The final set of panel respondents is mostly within 5% of the Kansas population on the distribution of age and county population. Respondents who are female are overrepresented in the final panel. Overrepresentations or underrepresentations are also detected within categories of other demographic variables (see the "Survey Panel Unweighted" column and the "Kansas Population" column in Appendix A). For example, in the survey, 3.4% of respondents reported that their highest education level was "less than high school," whereas the 2023 American Community Survey conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau shows that the highest level of education of 8.2% of Kansas residents is "less than high school." To increase the statistical presence of those who are underrepresented and decrease the presence of those who are overrepresented, the Institute weighed cases by age, gender, and education. The weighted demographic statistics are presented under the "Survey Panel Weighted" column in Appendix A. The analyses throughout this report use the weighted data. Cases with no answers to those three demographic variables used for weights receive no weight, and therefore are not included in the analyses (six cases were not included due to missing weights). A total of 656[1] weighted cases are included in the analyses.

The following analysis contains seven sections:
1) Overall Quality of Life in Kansas. This section shows how Kansans generally feel about Kansas as a place to live.

---

[1] Cases that are underrepresented on a variable receive a weight of more than one and therefore are counted as more than one case in the weighted data. Those that are overrepresented receive a weight of less than one and therefore are counted as less than one case. Aggregately, the total number of cases after weighting can be more or less than the number of cases in the original unweighted dataset.

2) Economy. This section shows results on questions addressing various economic concerns to citizens.

3) Government, Politicians, and Election. This section presents the results of citizens' ratings of the state government, elected officials and the U.S. and Kansas Supreme Courts, and attitudes about elections.

4) Public Policy Issues. This section looks at citizens' opinions on some contemporary state and/or national policies and issues, including Medicaid expansion, taxation, legalization of medical and recreational marijuana, abortion, immigration, gun control, etc.

5) Housing. This section examines citizens' personal housing situation and opinion regarding housing and homelessness in their communities.

6) Childcare and Long-term Care. This section presents citizens' opinion regarding the importance and support of childcare and elderly care in Kansas.

7) Water Conservation. This section examines citizens' concern about water shortage and their opinions about governmental efforts for water conservation.

These sections present descriptive analyses of respondents' answers to each question. Except for the questions asking about respondents' demographic information, all of the survey questions are displayed verbatim under those graphs presenting descriptive analyses. See Appendix B for all survey content as presented to respondents in the questionnaire.

Appendix C contains cross-tabulation analyses of survey questions by demographic variables. The tables are in the same order as the questions in the questionnaire. Each table shows how respondents' answers to each question varied by age group, education level, gender, race, political orientation, and household income. Each row contains the percentages of respondents selecting each answer option of the survey question within a demographic category. For example, the first table in Appendix C presents how respondent answered the question "In general, how would you rate Kansas as a place to live?" The first row in that table shows how respondents of 18-34 years old answered the question: 15.3% of respondents of 18-34 years old selected "excellent," 26.6% of respondents of that age group selected "very good," etc.

Section 1: Overall Quality of Life in Kansas

When asked to rate Kansas as a place to live, 46.2% indicated Kansas is a "very good" or "excellent" place to live; while 5.8% said Kansas is a "poor" or "very poor" place to live. The rating in 2024 was more positive than last year and similar to that in 2022 (Figure 1). In 2023, 42.9% of respondents rated Kansas "very good" or "excellent," and 10.9% rated Kansas "poor" or "very poor." In 2021, the percentages were 48.2% and 6.9% respectively.

Figure 1: Rating of Kansas as a Place to Live
Question: Q6 In general, how would you rate Kansas as a place to live?

When asked where they will be in 5 years, 58.4% of respondents said they would be living in the same community that they live in now, 15.2% said they would be moving to another location in Kansas, 15.2% said they would relocate to a state other than Kansas, and 11.2% answered "Don't Know" (Figure 2). The percentage of respondents who intended to move out of Kansas in 2024 is lower than the previous two years (16.3% in 2022 and 19.9% in 2023).

Question: Q7 By your best guess, where will you be in 5 years? Are you likely to still be living in the same community you are in now, move to another location in Kansas, or relocate to a state other than Kansas?

Section 2: Economy

Given high inflation in recent years, ratings of the economy in 2024 are compared with the same ratings found in the 2022 and 2023 Kansas Speaks survey. When asked to rate the Kansas economy (Figure 3), 21.1% of respondents said they felt the state's economy is "very good" or "excellent;" the percentage was higher than those in 2023 (18.8%) and 2022 (16.1%). About fifteen percent (14.5%) of respondents indicated they felt the economy was "poor" or "very poor" this year, which was lower than 2023 (20.5%) and slightly higher than 2022 (13.9%).

Figure 4 shows that in 2024 13.3% of respondents felt that the Kansas economy is getting better over the past year, which is lower than 2023 (18.7%) and 2022 (17.5%). The percentage of respondents feeling the Kansas economy is getting worse decreased from 43.7% in 2022 to 37.6% in 2024. More than forty percent (42.9%) of respondents felt the Kansas economy stayed the same in 2024, much higher than the past two years.

In 2024, 42.5% of respondents were "very concerned" or "moderately concerned" that the Kansas economy would seriously threaten their own or their family's welfare (Figure 5), lower than 2023 (45.5%) and very similar to 2022 (42.9%). Almost twenty percent (19.5%) of respondents said they were "not concerned at all" in 2024, slightly lower than 2022 (22%) and 2023 (21.3%).

Question: Q8 In general, how would you rate the Kansas economy?

Figure 4: Opinion on Change of Kansas Economy
Question: Q9 Over the last 12 months, how would you say the Kansas economy has changed?

Figure 5: Level of Concern that the Kansas Economy Will Seriously Threaten Individual's or Family's Welfare Over the Next Year
Question: Q10 How concerned are you that the Kansas economy will seriously threaten you or your family's welfare in the coming year?

In 2024 40.8% of respondents indicated they felt Kansas was on the "right track", which was lower than 2023 (46.3%) and 2022 (52.3%). More than thirty percent (33.9%) believed Kansas was on the "wrong track" in 2024, highest in three years (Figure 6).

Question: Q11 Generally speaking, do you think Kansas is on the right track or wrong track?

This year, Kansas Speaks added one question asking the impact of inflation in the past year. More than half (51.2%) of respondents said that inflation had affected their family "a great deal," 40.1% said it had affected their family "some," and 7.4% said "not at all." When asked about the impact on other Kansans, 59.5% said that inflation had affected other Kansans "a great deal," 31.4% said "some," and only 3.9% said "not at all" (Figure 7).

Question: Q12 How much would you say that inflation has affected your own family in the past year?
Q13 How much would you say that inflation has affected other Kansans in the past year?

Section 3: Government, Politicians, and Elections

Respondents were asked about their satisfaction with important political figures or institutions. Satisfaction was highest with respect to Governor Laura Kelly, as 46.4% of respondents were satisfied with Governor Kelly and 27.1% were dissatisfied. The U.S. Congress received the second highest level of dissatisfaction and lowest level of satisfaction from respondents, with 55% being dissatisfied and 15.9% being satisfied. President Joe Biden received the highest dissatisfaction, with 59% being dissatisfied (Figure 8).

Figure 8: Satisfaction with the Overall Performance of Elected/Appointed Officials Question: Q14 How satisfied are you with the overall performance of the United States Congress? United States Supreme Court? President Joe Biden? Kansas Supreme Court? Governor Laura Kelly? Senator Jerry Moran? Senator Roger Marshall? Kansas Legislature?

When asked whether they voted for Laura Kelly for governor in the 2022 election, 36% of respondents said "Yes," and 26.7% said "No." Almost forty percent (37.2%) did not vote, or answered "don't know or prefer to not answer" (Figure 9).

Question: Q15 If you voted in the 2022 election for governor, did you vote for Laura Kelly?

When asked who they voted for in the 2020 presidential election, 30.4% of respondents said they voted for Joe Biden, and 37.4% said they voted for Donald Trump. Almost thirty percent (27.3%) said they did not vote in 2020 (Figure 10).

Question: Q16 If you voted in the 2020 presidential election, who did you vote for?

When asked about their preferences regarding the upcoming presidential election, 46.3% of respondents would vote for Donald Trump, and 36.5% would vote for Kamala Harris. Another 6.8% chose neither candidate, 7.3% did not plan to vote or cannot vote, and 3.1% did not know (Figure 11). After excluding those who do not plan on voting or cannot vote, 49.9% of respondents would vote for Donald Trump, and 39.4% would vote for Kamala Harris. Among registered voters after excluding those who do not plan on voting or cannot vote, the support for Donald Trump was slightly lower, with 48.2% of respondents supporting him and 43.2% supporting Kamala Harris (Figure 12).

Question: Q17 If the 2024 presidential election were held today, who would you vote for?

Figure 12: Voting Preference for the 2024 Presidential Election Excluding Those Who Do Not Plan to Vote or Cannot Vote
Question: Q17 If the 2024 presidential election were held today, who would you vote for?

Respondents were asked about their opinion toward a list of statements related to elections. Respondents had high confidence with the election results in Kansas. About sixty percent (60.5%) of respondents agreed or strongly agreed that they were confident that the reported winners of the elections in Kansas are actually the candidates that most Kansas voted for, and 52.3% felt fraud is generally not a problem in Kansas elections. About half (47%-53%) of respondents disagreed or strongly disagreed with the following statements: Early voting should be abolished (only 15.5% agreed); Voter fraud routinely decides the winners of elections here in Kansas (only 11.6% agreed); Vote by mail should be abolished in Kansas (7.4% agreed); State and local elections officials in Kansas commit election fraud to alter our election outcomes (only 13.1% agreed). About forty percent (40%-44%) of respondents disagreed or strongly disagreed with the following statements: Ballot drop boxes should be banned in Kansas (23.5% agreed); Fraud is generally not a problem across the U.S. (38.4% agreed). Almost forty percent (37.2%) of respondents disagreed or strongly disagreed that illegal immigrants were voting in Kansas elections in large numbers, while 15.3% agreed. (Figure 13)

Question: Q18 How strongly do you agree or disagree with these statements regarding elections?

When asked if Kansas government is stronger when it has diverse representation among its elected officials, 57.4% of respondents agreed or strongly agreed that Kansas government becomes stronger with diverse representations among elected officials, while 6.3% disagreed. Over six percent (6.6%) said "don't know" (Figure 14).

Section 4: Public Policy Issues

When asked how much they think about Medicaid expansion, 29.3% of respondents think "a great deal" or "a lot" and another 28.8% think "a moderate amount" about Medicaid expansion as a current political issue with the Kansas legislature. More than forty percent (41.8%) of respondents thought "a little" or "not at all" of this issue (Figure 15).

Question: Q20 Medicaid expansion is a current political issue with the Kansas Legislature. How much do you think about this issue?

Turning to opinions on expansion (Figure 16), 75.9% of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that expanding Medicaid would help rural Kansas hospitals remain in business, while only 4.5% disagree. About two-thirds (67.4%) strongly or somewhat agreed that the Kansans who might obtain health insurance from expanding Medicaid deserve this benefit from the state, while only 6.3% disagree. More than seventy percent (72.4%) of respondents supported expanding Medicaid in Kansas, while only 8.7% do not. About half (50.9%) of respondents felt the issue of Medicaid expansion in Kansas was highly or extremely important as they decided who gets their vote to represent them in the Kansas Legislature, and another 34.1% considered it slightly important (Figure 17).

Respondents were asked about increasing taxes on cigarettes and cigars, alcohol, and legalizing recreational marijuana to allow state taxation, as avenues for increasing State revenue. Close to sixty percent (57.3%) somewhat or strongly supported increasing taxes on cigarettes and cigars. Almost half (49.7%) supported increasing taxes on alcohol. About two-thirds (65.2%) supported legalizing recreational marijuana for individuals 21 and older to allow state taxation, and 18.7% opposed legalizing recreational marijuana to allow state taxation (Figure 18).

Question: Q21 If Kansas expands Medicaid under the Affordable Care Act, about 10% of the expansion would be paid by Kansas, and 90% by the federal government. Studies estimate that expanding Medicaid would provide health coverage to approximately 150,000 Kansans and financially benefit rural hospitals. Please tell me if you strongly agree, somewhat agree, are neutral, somewhat disagree or strongly disagree with the following statements.

A small percentage (4.6%) of respondents knew about the tax cut bill passed during the last legislative session in Kansas, and 35.2% knew a little about it. About sixty percent (60.2%) knew "nothing" or "almost nothing" about it (Figure 22).

Question: Q24 Governor Kelly and the Kansas Legislature passed a tax bill cut during the last legislative session. How much would you say you know about it?

The survey measured respondents' attitudes on a list of statements related to abortion. More than sixty percent (65.4%) respondents agreed or strongly agreed that women were in a better position than politicians to make their own choices about whether to get an abortion, while 16% disagreed or strongly disagreed. More than half (54.9%) of respondents agreed or strongly agreed that Kansas government should not place any regulations on the circumstances under which women can get abortions, while 29.3% disagreed or strongly disagreed. More than half (61.3%) of respondents disagreed or strongly disagreed that "if the Kansas government were to ban all or most abortions, it should also make it illegal for Kansas women to travel outside of the state to get abortions in other states where abortion is still legal." (Figure 23)

Question: Q28 How strongly do you agree or disagree with these statements regarding abortion?

A majority (69.6%) of respondents are not willing to contact authorities to report a woman who had an illegal abortion or to report her medical providers, if the Kansas government were to ban all or most abortions (Figure 24). About thirty-eight percent (37.4%) of respondents thought the state government should pay most of the cost of prosecuting women who get illegal abortions or their medical providers if the Kansas government were to ban all or most abortions; 9.4% thought the local government should pay; 23.6% said "don't know" (Figure 25).

Respondents were asked about their opinion regarding new laws that restrict access to abortion passed by the Kansas Legislature despite of the fact that Kansas voters voted to continue making abortion legal in Kansas in 2022. About one-fourth (24.8%) of respondents strongly or somewhat supported those new laws, whereas 50.4% strongly or somewhat opposed them (Figure 26). Respondents were then asked how much they thought about the Kansas Legislature continuing to pass laws restricting abortion access. About one-third (33.1%) of responents said "a great deal" or "a lot" about; 27.6% said "a moderate amount," and 39.3% said "a little" or "not at all" (Figure 27).

Respondents were asked about their opinion toward a list of statements related to legal immigrants. About sixty percent of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed that legal immigrants contributed to the economic growth of the U.S. (61.5% agreed vs. 15% disagreed), the economic vitality of Kansas (60.8% agreed vs. 14.9% disagreed), and the economic vitality of their community (59% agreed vs. 15.5% disagreed). About fifty percent of respondents somewhat or strongly agreed with the following statements: They contribute to government revenue by paying taxes (55.1% agreed vs. 18.7% disagreed); They enrich American culture and values (53.8% agreed vs. 18% disagreed); They take jobs that Americans don't want (49% agreed vs. 20.7% disagreed). Consistent with their opinions with legal immigrants taking jobs Americans don't want, 44.5% of respondents somewhat or strongly disagreed that legal immigrants took jobs away from American citizens, while 29% somewhat or strongly agreed. More than forty percent of respondents felt that there were too many immigrants coming into the U.S. (45.7% agreed); however, almost the same percentage (42.9%) believed the U.S. should accept more high-skilled immigrants. Respondents' opinions were polarized when they were asked whether legal immigrants took social services away from American citizens (35.8% agreed vs. 37.1 disagreed) and whether the U.S. should accept more low-skilled immigrants (23.1% agreed vs. 27.3% disagreed). When asked if they are concerned about the foreign ownership of farmland in Kansas, about half of respondents expressed moderate to high level of concerns, with 28.3% saying "very concerned" and 22% saying "moderately concerned." The remaining half of respondents said "slightly concerned" or "not concerned at all" (Figure 30).

Question: Q64 Are you concerned about the foreign ownership of farmland here in Kansas, or not? Would you say you are…

Respondents were presented with a list of reasons for owning a gun or rifle and were asked the importance of each reason. Protection, hunting, and second Amendment right/Constitutional right were thought to be the most predominant reasons, with close to or more than 60% of respondents saying those reasons are "important" or "very important." Less than fifty percent of respondents rated "work related" and "hobby or collector" as "important" or "very important" (Figure 31).

Figure 31: Reasons for Owning a Gun or Rifle
Question: Q65 How important are the following reasons for owning a gun or rifle?

Following the reasons for owning a gun or rifle, the survey asked respondents to think about the single most important reason for owning a gun or rifle. Almost half of the respondents chose "protection as the single most important reason, which was the highest among all the other reasons. "Second Amendment" was the second most selected answer, with 22.2% of respondents selecting it. "Hunting" ranked the third place, with 18.8% of respondents selecting it (Figure 32).

Question: Q67 To what extent do you agree or disagree with the following statements?

The survey listed ten policies around gun ownership and asked if respondents favor or oppose them. Close to or more than 70% of respondents favored or strongly favored the following six policies, while no more than 13% opposed or strongly opposed them (Figure 34):

- Preventing sales of all firearms to people who have been reported as dangerous to law enforcement by a mental health provider (83.1% favored).
- Requiring a person to be 21 or older to purchase a gun (77.7% favored).
- Preventing sales of all firearms to people who have been convicted of violent misdemeanors (77.2% favored).
- Making private gun sales and sales at gun shows subject to background checks (74.8% favored).
- Allowing family members to ask the court to temporarily remove guns from a relative who they believe is at risk of harming themselves or others (69.2% favored).
- Mandatory three-day waiting period after a gun is purchased before it can be taken home (69% favored).

Close to or more than 50% of respondents (continuing in Figure 34) favored or strongly favored:

- Authorizing law enforcement officers to temporarily remove guns from individuals who the officer determines pose an immediate threat of harm to self or others (62.9% favored vs. 12.2% opposed).
- Banning assault-style weapons (54.5% favored vs. 25.8% opposed)
- Banning high-capacity ammunition clips that hold more than 10 bullets (54.3% favored vs. 23.3% opposed).
- Having teachers or other school officials with appropriate training carry guns at school (47.8% favored vs. 27.2% opposed).

Question: Q38 I have enough money saved to cover all my monthly expenses including housing for:

The survey asked a few questions regarding respondents' personal housing situation. Less than half (48.3%) of respondents agreed or strongly agreed that they spent the right amount of their income on housing costs; 29.6% disagreed or strongly disagreed. More than sixty percent of respondents felt that they would have difficulty affording to buy a home in their community (64.5% agreed or strongly agreed). More than sixty percent of respondents felt comfortable living in a neighborhood having rental properties (62% agreed or strongly agreed). When asked if they felt insecure about their housing situation, 32.5% of respondents strongly agreed or agreed, whereas 48.1% strongly disagreed or disagreed (Figure 44).

Question: Q39 Thinking of your own situation, how much do you agree or disagree with the following statements about housing?

Respondents were asked about their opinions with regard to housing in their communities. Almost seventy percent (67.9%) of respondents agreed or strongly agreed that they were concerned about the cost of housing in their communities. More than one-third (37%) agreed or strongly agreed that there was sufficient housing in their community, and about the same percentage (36.9%) disagreed or strongly disagreed. Almost sixty percent felt that their community is negatively impacted by lack of affordable homes for purchase (56.9% agreed or strongly agreed) or lack of affordable homes to rent (59.1% agreed or strongly agreed). When asked if they agreed that their community is adequately addressing housing issues, 20.1% of respondents agreed or strongly agreed, whereas 36.9% disagreed or strongly disagreed. Almost (48.2%) of respondents felt that local governments should ease up on zoning to allow for more small, multi-family dwellings in neighborhoods (Figure 45).

Question: Q40 How much do you agree or disagree with the following statements about housing in your community?

When asked where was the best place to locate a shelter to serve people who were homeless in their community, 26.3% of respondents said "downtown," 10.5% said "neighborhood," 6.8% said "business district," and 7.4% said "other location." Almost half (49.1%) were unsure about the best location or unaware of any homeless persons in their communities Figure 46).

Question: Q41 What is the best place to locate a shelter to serve people who are homeless in your community?

Repondents were asked how close to their home they would feel comfortable having a shelter. Almost twenty percent (19.6%) were comfortable with within two blocks of their home on the same street, 12.9% were comfortable with "less than a half mile but more than 2 blocks away," and 14% were comfortable with "less than 1 mile but at least a half mile away." About one-fourth (25.6%) of respondents said "1 to 2 miles away," and 27.9% were not at all comfortable with a shelter near their home (Figure 47).

Question: Q42 How close to your home would you feel comfortable having a shelter?

Respondents were asked what levels of the government should be responsible for funding services for people who are homeless. The highest affirmative response (69.5%) was for state government, followed by federal government (64.3%) and local government (54.3%). Less than ten percent (9%) said that "government should not be responsible for funding homeless services" (Figure 48).

Section 6: Childcare and Long-term Care

A large percentage (85.7%) of respondents believed that high-quality, affordable infant and toddler childcare was extremely or highly important for families in Kansas, regardless of whether or not they had young children. About eleven percent (10.7%) felt it was "slightly important" or "not important at all" (Figure 55).

	Extremely Important	Highly Important	Slightly Important	Not Important at All	Don't Know
(n=656)	55.1%	30.5%	9.1%	1.6%	3.7%
Question: Q50 Regardless of whether or not you have young children, how important do you believe high-quality, affordable infant and toddler childcare is for families in Kansas?

Respondents were asked about their opinions on a series statements that were related to childcare. Almost eighty percent (79.1%) of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that access to affordable childcare strengthened the economy. Regarding which levels of government should pass laws to expand access to affordable childcare, 74.8% strongly or somewhat agreed that state government should. Slightly less (71.2%) strongly or somewhat agreed that the federal government should. About two-thirds (67.7%) strongly or somewhat agreed that local government should. About two thirds of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that affordable and accessible childcare was an obstacle to women's economic participation (68.3%) and an obstacle to women's progress (65.6%). When asked whether mothers or grandparents should stay at home to provide infant and toddler childcare, more people disagreed than agreed; 27.8% strongly or somewhat agreed that mothers should whereas 38.2% strongly or somewhat disagreed; 13.8% strongly or somewhat agreed that grandparents should whereas 49.5% strongly or somewhat disagreed. (Figure 56)

Question: Q51 To what extent do you agree or disagree with the following statements?

Regarding elderly care, large percentages agree that Kansans who require long-term care services should be able to get the care needed in their own community (84.3% strongly or somewhat agreed) and that supporting mental health needs of aging Kansans is important (83.7% strongly or somewhat agreed). More than seventy percent of respondents strongly or somewhat agreed that state policymakers have an important role in ensuring that elderly Kansans were taken care of (77.5%), that Kansas should invest more in developing workers for long-term care services (77%), and that larger investments are needed in services and care for elderly Kansans (72.2%). (Figure 57)

Question: Q52 How strongly do you agree or disagree with these statements regarding elderly care in Kansas:

More than a third (36.3%) of respondents knew someone currently requiring long-term care and support (Figure 58). Almost thirty percent (29.1%) of respondents had close family members currently requiring long-term care and support (Figure 59), and among them 63.8% helped provide care for those family members (Figures 60).

Section 7: Water Conservation

About a third (33.4%) of respondents felt that their local government was doing "not enough" for water conservation in their part of Kansas. A larger percentage (39.6%) felt local government was doing "the right amount," and 2.4% felt it was doing "too much" (Figure 62). When asked about how they felt about the efforts from the state government, 36.8% of respondents said the efforts was "not enough," 33.8% felt they were "the right amount," and 3.2% felt they were "too much" (Figure 63).

Question: Q58 When it comes to water conservation in your part of Kansas, do you think that your local government is doing too much, the right amount, or not enough?

Question: Q59 When it comes to water conservation in your part of Kansas, do you think that the state government is doing too much, the right amount, or not enough?

Respondents were asked if they believed that voluntary action by individuals and businesses is sufficient or that local government should pass new laws to limit consumer and business use of water. Neither option stands out as more preferred among respondents, with 33.6% saying that voluntary action was sufficient and 35.7% saying that government should pass new laws (Figure 64). The survey continued by asking if state government should pass new laws. Respondents' answers were very similar to those regarding local government, with 33.5% saying that voluntary action was sufficient and 34.1% saying that the state government should pass new laws (Figure 65). About thirty percent had no opinion for both questions.

Almost half (49.6%) of respondents were "very" or "moderately concerned" that Kansas might be running out of water, and another 27.7% were "slightly concerned." Almost thirteen percent (12.8%) were "not concerned at all" (Figure 67). More than fifty percent (52.6%) of respondents strongly agreed or agreed that Kansas farmers would need to make changes to their farming practices due to declining water levels; 6.8% disagreed or strongly disagreed (Figure 68).

QIntro Welcome to the 2024 Kansas Speaks survey conducted by the Docking Institute of Public Affairs at Fort Hays State University. Kansas Speaks is a statewide survey measuring Kansans' evaluations of elected officials and their opinions on economy, taxation, election, and some current public affairs issues. It takes about 15 minutes to answer all the questions. The survey has been conducted annually since 2009, and survey results have been reported in local, state, and national news media. Your opinions matter. By participating in this survey, you will give voice to thousands of Kansans similar to you. You are assured complete confidentiality. For more information about the Kansas Speaks survey, please visit our website: www.fhsu.edu/docking/Kansas-Speaks

 Should you have concerns with the survey, please contact Dr. Jian Sun via his email address: jsun@fhsu.edu
