METAPHORS OF SPANISH CULTURE IN FLAMENCO, GENDER ROLES AND GENDER ISSUES

12/28/22

Dr. Chita Espino-Bravo, associate professor of modern languages, published an article in the Dec. 28 edition of Flamenco Research Magazine "La Madrugá" (University of Murcia, Spain). Her article explores the meaning of flamencas' movements, how their movement exposes gender issues and tensions between female and male artists, and the role of musicians on stage.

01/01/23

Dr. Matthew Clay, assistant professor of teacher education, wrote a book chapter for "Teaching and Learning Online: Science for Secondary Grades." His work focuses on using 360-degree photo spheres for a virtual exploration of the Continental Divide Trail as a way for middle school students to explore regional climate differences.

RETROSPECTIVE – MY FIRST FIVE YEARS AS PRESIDENT 12/22/22

Dec. 18, 2017, was my first day as president of Fort Hays State University. Five years. Wow. As the fifth-year anniversary date approached, I took time to reflect on this wonderful journey of mission, community, setbacks, and incredible success. I've built this reflection around five key themes that I think best describe my first five years as president.
